

PRINTERS' STRIKE NEARING AN END

Contest for Eight Hours Has Practically Been Won.

MORE SETTLEMENTS MADE

To Care for Unemployed Seven Per Cent Assessment Will Be Continued.

The printers' eight-hour strike, which has been in progress since January 1, will be called off in a number of places on October 1. At the same time the strike assessment, which has been 10 per cent of the gross earnings of the working printers for several months past, will be reduced to 7 per cent.

This action will be the result of a policy outlined at the recent session of the International Typographical Union in Colorado Springs.

A statement just issued from the headquarters of the International Union, claims that the eight-hour day has been established throughout the jurisdiction of the International Typographical Union, but says there are some 4,500 members affected by the strike who must be cared for until they can find employment.

The strike will be declared off in places where the normal number of members are working, with the idea that this will enable the officers to conduct a more effective campaign in cities where opposition is still encountered.

It is stated that the assessment will probably be continued for some time, as it is the purpose of the officers to direct the full force and strength of the International Typographical Union against those who are still opposing the eight-hour day and the union shop.

PAOLUCCI UNDER GUARD AT CASUALTY HOSPITAL

The coroner's jury yesterday held Joseph Paolucci for the murder of Miss Elizabeth V. Dodge, who was shot and killed Thursday evening on the sidewalk a few doors from her home, 437 Fifth street northeast.

Doctors at the Casualty Hospital, where Paolucci is confined say he is showing signs of improvement. By his bedside a policeman from the Ninth precinct is stationed day and night, to make sure that the Italian does not escape, or that he does not try to again end his life, by his own hand.

The verdict rendered by the jury was that Miss Dodge came to her death from internal hemorrhages, caused by gunshot wounds.

The autopsy developed the fact that three instead of two bullets fired by Paolucci at Miss Dodge took effect.

CORNCOBS VALUABLE IN MAKING ALCOHOL

The corncob industry is looking up. Just now they are manufacturing alcohol from these formerly discarded products and making a whole lot of money out of the process.

Just a few years ago there was nothing doing with the corncob. It could never be applied to any useful purpose. Announcement that the corncob is valuable was made by Secretary of Agriculture Wilson. He declared it could be transformed into a million-dollar industry. The alcohol produced from the corncob is said to cost three cents a gallon.

ALEXANDRIA THIEF GETS JAIL TERM

Stole Purse Containing $54.
Then Escaped to Washington.

WASHINGTON TIMES BUREAU, ALEXANDRIA, VA., SEPT. 15.

Annie Craig, colored, reported to police headquarters yesterday evening that a boy, who had come to her house with a trunk, had made off with a purse containing $54. Lieutenant Smith immediately telephoned to the boat wharves and to the union station, telling those in charge there to keep a lookout for the boy. Shortly afterward he was notified by Mr. Hardin, the watchman at the union station, that a colored boy named Silas Green had been arrested on the charge of stealing the money.

Policeman Sherwood and Bettis went to the station and brought Green back to the city. He denied having taken the money, but a boy who had seen him running, testified to the fact that he had thrown something in the grass near the station, and upon a search being instituted the money was found in the place designated. In the police court this morning Justice Caton fined Green $100 and sent him to jail for six months.

MEN SHOWED BADGES, BUT COULDN'T GET IN

On September 8 the police were notified that two men claiming to represent the Potomac Electric Power Company had sought to gain entrance to a residence on Twentieth street, but when asked to show their badges declined to do so and were denied admittance by the butler. The various stations were notified to look out for the men who were at the time believed by the police to be impostors.

It has since developed that the men were really employed by the power company and a statement from the officials of that company is to the effect that the men who were sent to the Twentieth street house to make a "voltage" test, showed their badges when asked, but were refused admittance by the men who answered the door.

COLD STORAGE CO. ELECTS OFFICERS

New Concern to Erect Large Ice Plant Costing $325,000.

A meeting of the incorporators of the Washington Cold Storage and Ice Com- pany was held in Alexandria at 1 p. m.

today, and an organization effected by the election of officers and the adoption of by-laws.

The company, as its name implies, was formed for the purpose of establishing a cold storage and ice plant and has recently bought the square of ground known as square 328, bounded by E and F, Eleventh and Twelfth streets southwest, for which they paid a sum approximating $125,000.

It is their intention to erect a plant costing about $325,000 and plans are now being made with that end in view. The company has already decided upon the building of an ice plant with a capacity of 240 tons of ice daily and have contracted for five 100-ton ice-making machines to be delivered as promptly as possible, so that they can begin manufacturing as soon as the building is ready.

The capital of the company will be placed at $500,000 and has already been fully subscribed. The incorporators are: William V. Cox, John Cassella, William G. Carter, Samuel W. Curriden, Frank T. Chamberlin, Walter C. Clephane, George W. Gray, Thomas C. Noyes, James F. Oyster, Edward R. Tinker, Jr., Preston S. Smith, Frank G. Wilkins, E. O. Whitford, George L. Whitford, and H. Boesch.

The officers elected were: W. V. Cox, president; E. O. Whitford, first vice president; E. R. Tinker, Jr., second vice president; W. G. Carter, third vice pre- sident; F. G. Wilkins, secretary; S. W. Curriden, treasurer, and W. C. Clephane, attorney.

ATHLETIC ASSOCIATION TENDERED A SOCIAL

An enjoyable social was given last evening by the Gurley Athletic Association, under the direction of Francis H. Young, to the Sunday school of the Gurley Presbyterian Church. An interesting program was offered, including a number of recitations and solos. After the program refreshments were served.

The Athletic Association is preparing for a strenuous season this year.
